Friday's Our Remnant Day, Our Special Bargain Day.

We grow more and more exacting as to merchandise. More determined to have only fresh, complete, perfect stocks for your choosing. Hence, longer and longer pieces are called "remnants." Articles with the slightest semblance of imperfection; every broken assortment, odd lot, etc., is treated as a remnant and is immediately closed out by the

To give additional interest to our Bargain Day, we purchase specially for the occasion, and offer below the regular prices, such goods as we deem worth your buying.

Please Bear in Mind the Following:

It frequently happens that remnants are closed out early, and late comers are disappointed. We advertise exact quantities so far as practicable, but first comers must always have the first choice; and they usually come early-many of them at eight o'clock, when the store opens.

We make this statement that all who read our advertisements may understand that it is out of our power to prevent such disappointments. Friday's Special Bargain in Silk Department.

EDMONIA'S LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22, 1899.

Editor Star: Talking about domestic happiness reminds me of the large number of Washington ladies who are enjoying it in a very large degree. Think of it! Thirty-two years ago my grandmother purchased a Light-Running Domestic Sewing Machine. Domestics were very dear then. I believe I've heard her say she pald one hundred dollars for it. When my mother got married she received from dear Grandpa a Light-Running Domestic as a wedding gift. And when I got married to John-you know John, my John, my own dear John-the first thing pa sent us to our cozy new little home was a Light-Running Domestic, so, you see, our domestic happiness is complete in more ways than one. Yours, as ever, EDMONIA SMYLER.
